

Jessica Yaniv – MandaPanda Twitter Direct Message Log Ending Nov 20, 2019

Introduction and Method:

This data was obtained from MandaPanda's Twitter account. It is a record of the direct messages between @mandapandagrrr and @trustednerd, an account used by Jessica (Jonathan) Yaniv. It is 228 pages long.

This was taken from the raw data file downloaded from Twitter. It was then cleaned up by replacing user ID strings with names and the format and presentation was cleaned up. Timestamps, sender and recipients, and message content were not altered in any way. The original file is 883 pages and 155,266 words. Cleaning it up in this manner was the only way to make this user friendly.

Message: I was at ROGUE Wetbar in Vancouver tonight with a reservation. A group of 14 women come in and request to have me removed because I make them "uncomfortable" I've already ordered drinks prior. GM approaches me and tells me that he doesn't know what to do because they don't want me here. I tell him, "are these really the type of guests you want here discriminating against other guests?" He tells me these guests will not go to their table because I'm in the restaurant and pays for my drink. He just wants me out of there. I advise him I'll call VPD because this is hate and discrimination. I hate this",

Message: I received a call around September 28th from Carol Sheardown, the Recruiter for my local Elections Canada office asking if I'd work a DRO (Deputy returning officer) position at RE Mountain Secondary school. I said yes to the position, and she asked me what days I could come in for training. I told her I had a busy schedule, but I could come in October 5th from 9-12:30. She then told me to come in and bring a void cheque. I then had another call with her in regards to being a CPS (central poll supervisor). She told me she did have some job for me travelling between polling stations but still come in. I did. I also went to the polling station to vote in advance. My strata president, Linda, also works at this elections office.. My information was leaked out by the Carol Sheardown recruiter on October 2nd, where my private email address was inappropriately sent out to about 20 unknown people, most likely trainees, for the local office. This is a privacy violation and I did not allow this to happen. The list was as follows:\n\nTo: davelehal@yahoo.ca <sumankaurbrar@gmail.com>\nReply-To: 59016 ADR-REC <59016_ADR-REC@elections.ca>\n\nSeveral hours later, I then received a phone call when I was at the doctor from a woman named Cathy at Elections Canada. I told her to please phone back in 15 minutes. I then received a call back from her advising that due to my political beliefs on my social media accounts and my support for another party, I am not allowed to work for Elections Canada, and also due to the fact of who I am that being a transgendered woman.

She then advised me not to come to training on October 5th.
\n\nI then phoned the main office for Elections Canada to report this behaviour. I told them I know the law, including the Elections Act and I know that the only ineligibility to work is if you've been charged under the elections act, a person's views on their own social media accounts does not make them ineligible, and also the fact that I am transgendered does not make them ineligible. She confirmed that I am correct about this and I should file a complaint. This is when I contacted my lawyers at Watson Goepel.\n\nI also submitted my complaint to Elections Canada and received a service ticket # EC-20575932.\n\nThe person at Elections Canada (Cathy) advised me that due to my political beliefs, a protected ground under the BC Human Rights Code (the Code), and my support for another party on social media, I cannot work for Elections Canada and my employment was now terminated. She also advised me it's due to the fact of who I am, that being a transgendered woman, which is another protected ground under Sex, Gender Expression/Identity.\n\nI support the Liberal Party of Canada publically on my Twitter page and the local BC Green party provincially. I have said I do not support the BC NDP, it's leader, it's VP, and I donate to the BC Green party. I also do not support the federal NDP party due to the riding candidate.\n\nAnd I was terminated because of this, and being transgendered.\n\nHow is this fair?", Message: Hey. I need to and want to apologize to you about things that occurred years ago. I feel that I need to, and I need to apologize to you to close that chapter and to make things right. \n\nI'm sorry for what I did. I am sorry for the way I talked to you. I was not well after my dad died and I used people considerably, including you. I craved attention, and that attention that I craved was not good. I was a depressive, miserable person that only wanted to talk to people, didn't matter what, to keep conversations going and for them to never end. So I did stupid shit and when I look back on it, I hate it. I hate what I did, and I feel horrible about it. I wish I could go back and fix it all, but I can't. I know that what I did caused you a lot of stress, a lot of mental issues, and for that I apologize. I apologize that I used you. \n\nI apologize that you've been made the centre of all of this crazy controversy. \n\nIt's not fair to you. \n\nNo one should ever go through that. \n\nI hope you will accept my apology as a peace offering to close this horrible chapter that occurred in both our lives and move forward."

Message: — Application for Reconsideration —\nDear Ms. Cousineau,\nThere are many corrections that need to be made to this decision. I strongly believe that external factors such as harassment from 3rd parties towards the Tribunal and yourself created this decision as there are many inaccuracies towards me and the reasons of filing these complaints. These complaints were not at all racially motivated and I would like that corrected immediately please. I do believe this reconsideration request is in the best interests of fairness and justice towards these providers who did in fact discriminate against me as a transgendered woman seeking waxing services available for women.",

I want to mention though, that I highly respect Ms. Cousineau for the work she does, however, I do feel that unfortunate harassment that she received played a role in her decision.", Message: I have suffered unfairness because of this when all I want was to get the services that my gender can receive, that being, waxing.\nIn addition, the definition of a brazilian wax is the removal of hair from the belly button to the anus. A brazilian wax does not mean any certain type of genitals.\nIn addition, the complaints against both Judy Tran, Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio, and Sukhi Hehar Gill are 100% justified as they all have services that are customarily available to the public, that being leg waxing and in the case of Merle Norman (who does "male brazilian" waxing) as well.\nIn addition to the following corrections:\n[2] – Inaccurate statement: "Most of them presented as racialized, with English not their first language."

Recipient: "Manda Panda",

Sender: "Jessica Yaniv",

Message: Correction:\nMerle Norman for example, is not a racialized business and they spoke English. It's also a large franchise and not a small business. As such, I did not target certain ethnic groups and small businesses for financial gain. In fact, as I have said many times during pre-hearing, these complaints are not and were not for any financial gain what so ever, it was to correct and stop systemic discrimination that is occurring in today's society against the LGBTQ2SIA+ community.\nI find it extremely offensive with the decision stating that I targeted ethnic groups when this is not the case at all.\nThe fact of the matter is, the complaints that did not resolve in mediation, because they did not even go to mediation, were mostly ethnic. The complaints that did resolve in mediation, some were ethnic, and some weren't, but to say I am and have targeted ethnic groups for financial gain is inaccurate and outright offensive.\n[16] "In cross-examination, she was evasive and argumentative, and contradicted herself."

Recipient: "Manda Panda",

Sender: "Jessica Yaniv",

Message: There were elements that yes, I did not feel comfortable answering. I am extremely gender dysphoric and this is a mental issue which I suffer with. This isn't something that I can easily control, and I found many of the questions during cross-examination offensive. However, I did not contradict myself and I wish for this to be corrected.\nNow, in regards to the service being requested. It was stated that "Jonathan" is a stereotypical male name. Then I raise the question that if "Jonathan" is a stereotypical male name, then why was the service not refused at that moment, as the name that was requesting service was "Jonathan." However, in most instances, if not all, the service was not refused immediately but it WAS refused when I mentioned I was transgender. This is further backed with the recordings with Merle Norman.\nAnd this is explicitly the issue at hand and where the discrimination plays out and why these complaints were filed. It was explicitly due to the fact that I mentioned I was transgender. And in fact, ALL of these service providers have no issue doing services on "males" as if they did, again, why wasn't the service refused immediately? They only refused service again, until I mentioned I was transgender.\nAs such, I do believe that the Tribunal was misguided by all Represented respondents, and also did not see that the Unrepresented Respondents did indeed perform the service (scrotum waxing) as requested, because if they didn't, then with "Jonathan" being a stereotypical male name, they would have refused the service before mentioning I was transgendered.\nIn addition, Merle Norman does indeed do scrotum waxing. Reason being, I have had it done at Merle Norman Langley without any issue. I did not return to Merle Norman Langley due to the issues of privacy surrounding that location. In specific, the door to their room faces the lobby where customers can have a peek at a persons genitals if they are unrobed and the representative leaves quickly. I did not feel comfortable in that aspect of it not being double doored.", available to the public\n\nThe services requested are medically necessary for pre-op transgender women seeking surgery. Hair removal is a strict requirement and waxing does indeed help to remove and limit the amount of hair. The strict removal method and medically approved method is electrolysis, however, the procedure is extremely painful and costly.\n\nAs such, I am of the position that the refusal of services also affects my ability to properly transition, which I may seek as discrimination due to physical disability. However, I am not going to further complicate this issue, but I did want to mention that having excessive pubic hair can be considered a disability as it is to my knowledge a medical issue, that needs to be treated pre-surgery.\n\n[46] – If this was indeed the case, that being that I was perceived as male by my name and picture, then why wasn't I refused service BEFORE mentioning I was transgender in all instances? Again, it was only after mentioning I was transgender, including with Merle Norman, that I was refused service.\n\n[51] "at the time" needs to be added after "she was not menstruating", Message: In addition, service providers such as Waxology talk about waxing around a tampon string and being on your period not an issue for waxing. They are a professional waxing studio and I know them personally. This is why, when it came to Benipal I asked the question to determine professionalism, as it's seen in several waxing salons including Waxology, such as:\n\na. <https://t.co/VYq8jdpEqO>\n\nb. <https://t.co/PUuYrIAkNI>\n\nc. <https://t.co/6ycy3QOhUc>\n\nd. <https://t.co/9wWhLkNGV3>\n\ne. <https://t.co/3EzBAqkl5V>\n\n" Don't cancel your appointment if you have your period. Message: This statement:\n\n" In my view, the most likely scenario is that Ms. Yaniv was trying to make Ms. Benipal feel uncomfortable or awkward for her own amusement or as a form of revenge. "\n\nAlso needs to be struck. It is inaccurate. I did not seek "amusement" or a "form of revenge" by asking this question. As seen above, it's a common question to ask waxing providers whom are professional.\n\nI do not agree with any statements that I am "racist" towards immigrants. All of these statements are untrue and inaccurate and libelous towards me. I do not have any issues with immigrants. What I have issues with are individuals who are abusive towards others, specifically the LGBTQ and use the fact that they may be an immigrant as an excuse for their outrageous behaviour.\n\n[67] I am always in the area early in regards to all of my appointments, I take my time getting places and I do not agree with the Tribunal's statement that this is odd and "unlikely." Yes, it doesn't take 4.5 hours to travel from Vancouver to Surrey on transit, however, given how I travel and stop along the way, for me, that is likely and possible and that's what I would have done.\n\n[96] The complaint is justified as the Tribunal has stated: "There is no question that Mrs. Hehar was customarily providing the service of waxing arms and legs. It is clear from the conversation that Ms. Yaniv's gender identity was a factor in her decision to refuse service. "\n\nIf individuals can refuse service for any reason because their 'husband's wont allow it' we have a significant problem. I do not agree with the Tribunal's statements in these regards because it opens a dangerous window of opportunity for people to engage in discrimination, and then blaming it that a 3rd party won't allow them. The Tribunal stating that this is a "sufficient to shift the burden to the Respondents to establish a bona fide reasonable justification for the denial." Is unacceptable.", Message: [115] The Tribunal has stated that "I am satisfied that the pattern is deliberate and motivated by Ms. Yaniv's animus towards certain, non-white, immigrants to Canada and, in particular, members of South Asian and Asian communities. I return to this below.\n\nThis is absolutely incorrect. This is not "deliberate" and "motivated" by any means. I only wanted to receive a service. Most of the providers for waxing in these communities are racialized women. Does that mean that we are all required to "give in" if and when we are discriminated against because filing a complaint against these individuals would constitute racism? I do not agree.\n\n[116] Not true.\n\nAs a female, in specific, a transgender woman, going to a salon that may be physically abusive, after being sexually assaulted in previous years, is terrifying. You never know what will happen once you book a service, go in, disrobe. Will you be attacked? Assaulted? Raped?\n\nSo yes, I communicated with businesses over Facebook Marketplace to talk to them. Having a male sounding voice is dysphoric to me, and it's hard for me to communicate over the phone without getting misgendered, I hate it, and I get defensive when I get misgendered. So for safety, I decided to use Facebook Marketplace. I was never deceptive in my communications. At that time, my legal name was Jonathan and I was pre-hormone treatments. I still had a male physique and to many people, I presented as male. However, I was female.\n\nFor my own safety, I communicated with them over Facebook Marketplace. This was not "entrapment" or anything as such. This was to ease communication for the issues listed above. The only case where I phoned in, was with Merle Norman and due to the issues presented with other salons getting refused service, I did record it.\n\nThere was never any deception in any means. In fact, it was quite the opposite given my Facebook presented as male in the public eye.", Message: [117] Asking if she'd work around a tampon was not petty nor vindictive, as mentioned in my statements that professional waxing providers are asked this question, as mentioned on their website in FAQ's.\n\nIt is absolutely incorrect in stating that I was not seeking waxing services. In fact, I am consistently seeking hair removal services in that region as I am pre-op and waiting surgery so I need to remove as much hair as possible from that region. I am not a fan of electrolysis, so I am seeking the cheapest and most effective option for me to help that issue.\n\nWith such surgeries, hair can grow inside of the vaginal cavity. This is dangerous, and why electrolysis hair removal is necessary.\n\nAnd this is why I am seeking these gender-affirming care services.\n\nMy application for costs towards the JCCF, might have been exaggerated in terms of what was requested. However, I was harassed relentlessly by the JCCF and their staff. This conduct is being dealt with their governing body in Alberta. For confidentiality reasons, I cannot discuss what is taking place.\n\nCosts towards me: I do not find my conduct at all improper and I find the amount requested for me to pay, unreasonably high. First of all, my business has suffered tremendously after getting attacked by anti-trans activists and my health throughout Spring-Summer of 2019. I simply do not have $6,000 to pay anyone. I am currently in significant debt that I am working to pay off. I barely eat. I do not buy groceries anymore. I am working promotional jobs to pay for my medications and emergency expenses.\n\nAs such, I am seeking an alternative to a financial remedy such as community service, if available. I simply cannot afford any amount of costs that exceed $1000 and I can prove this.\n\nRegards,\n\nJessica Yaniv",
